

Connection

Heart Chan Virtual Half-Day Meditation Retreat

During this challenging time, Heart Chan meditation provides precious teachings of connection with our spiritual self. We explore the loving kindness within our heart, to connect with those we love, those acquainted to us, and even those who challenge us... This heart connection melts the barriers and walls between people in formless tranquility.

Heart Chan cordially invites you to join us for a virtual meditation retreat. Whether you are an experienced meditation practitioner who seeks deeper insights or a beginner interested in exploring meditation, we welcome you all.

The first three sessions will include a talk and interactive discussion which aligns with the main theme “connection,” followed by a meditation session. Active participation is highly encouraged, these sessions are an opportunity for you to share, question and challenge these teachings toward gaining clarity.

About Heart Chan:

Heart Chan is a global spiritual organization that shares the ancient teachings and practice of Chan meditation. Many people today explore meditation practice to seek peace of mind, reduce stress or improve health issues. However, Chan meditation can be much more than that. It offers an opportunity to deepen and clarify our spirituality, upon whatever path our heart takes us. Heart Chan practice places an emphasis on our heart connections as opposed to our mind connections.

Heart Chan practitioners include business professionals, families and people from all walks of life, who practice to gain deeper clarity into their life's purpose and harmony within their heart. Chan meditation has proven to be a unifying practice that awakens compassion and connectedness among practitioners from diverse faiths, backgrounds and worldviews.
